

Cookie policy

Cookies are small files that are stored on visitors' computers when they visit a website. The cookies store information and some of these can have privacy implications.

The cookies employed by FDQ are used for obtaining basic information which we use to enhance user visits to our website. Some of these last only for so long as you remain on our website and some are kept for repeat visits.

We only use cookies to administer our website, analyse data and track users' movements. None of the information stored allows you to be personally identified.

For further information visit www.aboutcookies.org

Third party cookies

FDQ uses trusted third party service providers (listed below) to analyse data from visits to our website.

FDQ recommends our website users read information from our service providers.

Service provider	How cookies are used
Google	FDQ may use Google Analytics to gather statistics on how people interact with and navigate the FDQ website. FDQ uses these statistics to improve our website and to make it easier for our visitors to use the FDQ website.
LinkedIn	FDQ uses LinkedIn to <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Bring you advertising both on and off the LinkedIn site • Provide customised features to visitors through LinkedIn plugins such as the FDQ share button.

FDQ's Privacy Policy and Fair Processing Notice provide further information about how FDQ handles data and information.